"Play-Fi seems like the perfect set-up. You get the ability to control a bunch of speakers in your house through your laptop without having to spend lots of cash on expensive gear. It seemed to work beautifully on my set-up, allowing me to control my group of three wireless speakers in one room and two in another. The only problem I had with this app is that after a bit of listening, I had to disconnect and reconnect. The process of connecting was quite frustrating. It would close the app, try to connect again, and then close again when the connection failed. I think that if they could figure out a way to ensure that you connect once, and then not have to reconnect again, this app would be the way to go."
